Scriabin's Piano Concerto in F-Sharp

This handsome compilation features major composers Alexander Scriabin and Anton Rubinstein drawn from authoritative sources. In the mid-nineteenth century, the development of the piano was left largely to Rubinstein. Of his finest works, the Concerto in F-sharp major emerged as a powerful vehicle for both virtuosity and dramatic effect. This is an arresting work that has remained in the concert repertoire since its first appearance. In fact, so great was its impact that it inspired Tchaikovsky's immortal First Piano Concerto and Liszt's Fourth. Rubinstein's Fourth was a product of his collaboration with the chamber-music collaboration between piano and violin.
